

Family Safety Framework

Safe, respected and free from violence

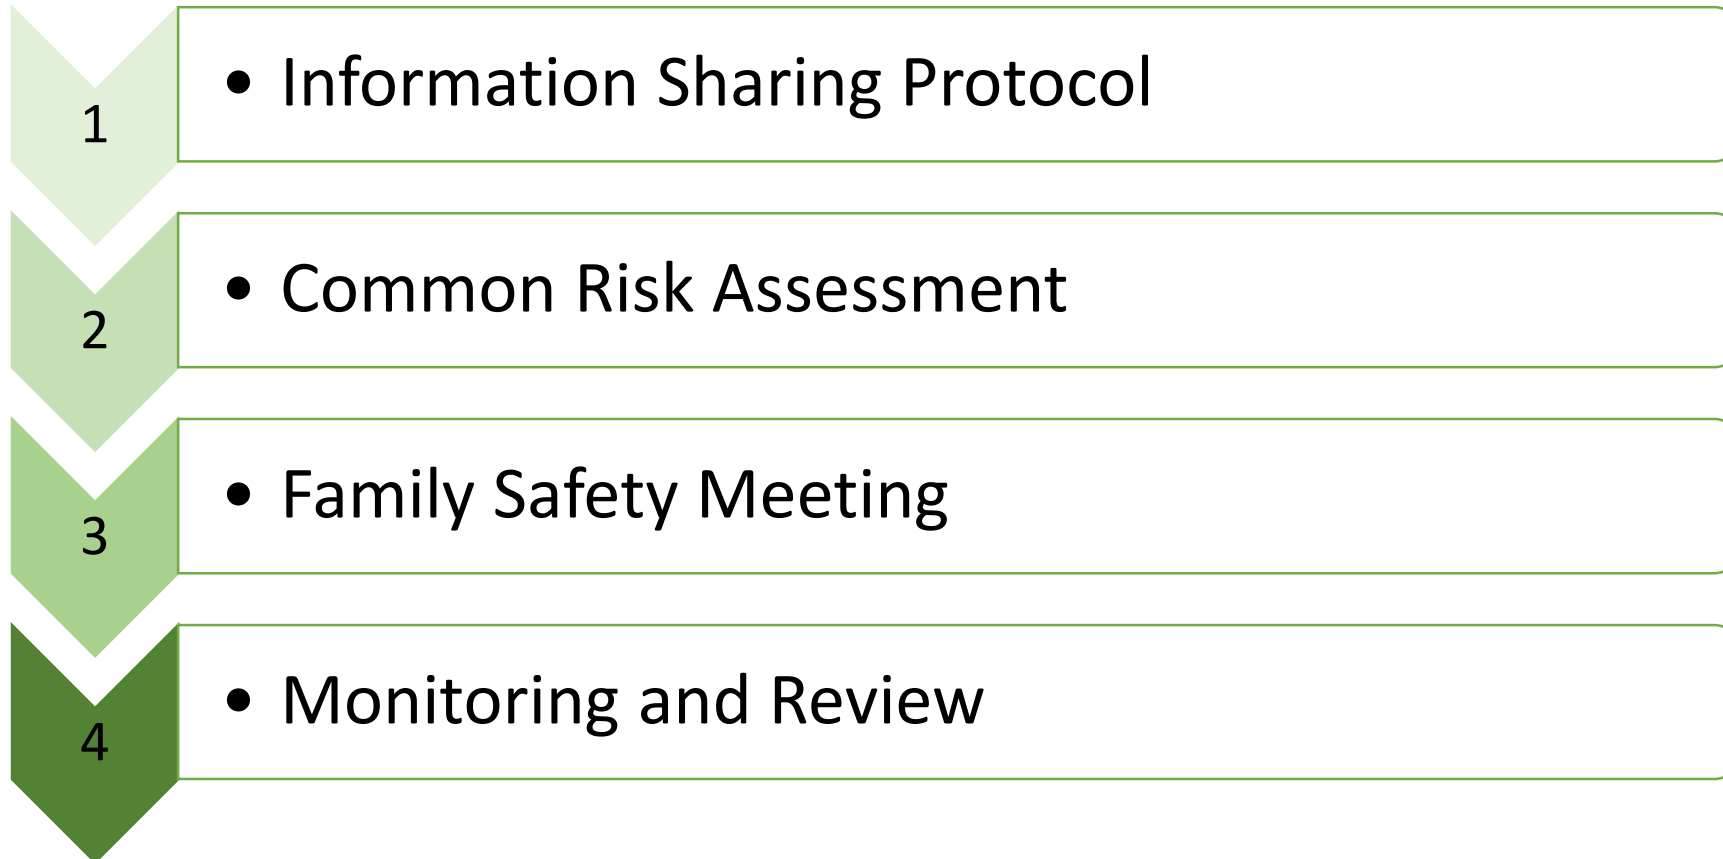

An action-based, integrated service response to individuals and families experiencing domestic violence and facing a serious and imminent threat to their life, health or safety.

4 Key Elements

Safe, respected and free from violence

Some high risk indicators

Safe, respected and free from violence

- Recent separation or plans to separate
- Victim predicts that offender could harm or kill her/children
- History of violence to family member/s
- Level and frequency of violence has increased
- Offender has attempted to strangle victim
- Offender has threatened to kill/harm family members in recent incident, including verbalised plans
- Pregnancy
- Harm to pets

Alice Springs FSF agencies

Safe, respected and free from violence

- NT Police (lead agency)
- Education
- Health (Hospital)
- Community Corrections
- Housing
- Territory Families (child protection, youth justice)
- (Centrelink)
- NPY Women's Council
- Alice Springs Women's Shelter
- Central Australian Aboriginal Congress
- Tangentyere Council

Key messages

Safe, respected and free from violence

- Domestic violence is prevalent, serious and preventable
- Enquire about Family Safety Framework Training
- For guidance on high risk cases, speak to your agency's FSF representative (if you have one), or the Women's Shelter, or Police
- A mandatory report to Police is separate and additional to an FSF referral